The Critical Public.

The man who gets angry about what a newspaper prints of himself should return thanks a dozen times each day for what a newspaper knows of him and does not say. Any fool can find things to print in a newspaper, but it takes a wise newspaper to find things to keep out."

All of which is very true, remarks an exchange. It is generally supposed that newspapers print everything they can find out that is anywhere near fit to print, but that is a mistaken idea. The average country newspaper refrains from publishing many things that might pass as news because it would reflect on the character or reputation of some individual, and indirectly on his family and the town.

And this reminds us, and we presume other newspapers have noticed it, that if anything happens to get into the paper that does not please some subscriber—and we have known of such cases where the offended person has not and never had been a subscriber—it does not take long for the person to let the editor know all about it. On the other hand, a newspaper may say all kinds of good things about this same person, and threw boquets promiscously at others, yet not once in a hundred times will the compliments be noticed or the editor.

This goes to show what people take too much as a matter of course. A newspaper is expected to speak well of everybody, boom the town, and do a lot of hard work for "the good of the cause," for it costs nothing to run a newspaper—so too many seem to think. It is fortunate that most publishers are public spirited citizens. They do much without hope or reward on earth, content if they see good accomplished thru their efforts.

Good Fish Story.

The editor sometimes goes fishing in the waters of the North Fork of Triplett and sometimes catches some good pike, but he has never been so fortunate or unfortunate as to hook one as big as this one told about by Messrs. Morgan, Clayton and Davis to the Morehead Citizen, which tells it thus:

"Ben Morgan told us that Geo. Clayton told him that John Davis told him that somebody else told him that while crossing the Hi Roberts ford on North Fork of Triplett the other day with a mule team a large fish, supposed to be a pike, was floundering on the shoal and knocked the feet of one mule from under it, causing it to fall and become entangled in the harness and it was necessary to take harness off to keep the mule from drowning." Next!—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

Adam Birchfield, of Stillwater, Wolfe county, and Jesse Eldridge, of Hampton, Breathitt county, were lodged in jail here Sunday, the former for a pistol and the latter for running his horse on public highway. Both were running their horses, but Birchfield had a pistol on him when arrested and was tried only for the pistol. Birchfield was fined $50 and cost, while Eldridge was fined $5 and cost.—Frenchburg Agitator.

HON. JOHN W. LANGLEY, of Floyd county, was nominated by the Republicans of this (10th) district for his third successive term in congress at the convention held in Mt. Sterling last Friday. The convention adopted a platform endorsing the national and state administrations and the course of Senator Bradley and the Republican congressman.

PROF. WILLOUGHBY, who has been among us for a short time as one of the faculty of Hazel Green Academy, has made many friends, and they are glad to know that he will henceforth be principal of the academy. He is a fine pulpit orator and this coupled with his social and mixing qualities has so endeared him to the people as to make him phenomenally popular with the classes as well as the masses. Our individual acquaintance with Prof. Willoughby is quite limited, but the little we have seen of him leads us to opine that he will prove a great advantage to the school. He appears to be very earnest in education, devoted to the doctrine he preaches, and withal a gentleman who has magnetism. Therefore, we congratulate the C. W. B. M. that they have secured Mr. Willoughby's services and venture the assertion that he will aid the school in many ways.

MANY of readers will bear witness to the fact that only a year or so since THE HERALD insisted that some of our farmers should invest to a limited extent, at least, in introducing the Angora goat, explaining through bulletins furnished by the Agricultural Department at Washington their benefits. In the first place they clear up land where it is covered with underbrush, and do it at no expense to the owner. Ordinarily we have to go over the ground, cut down the growth upon it, and then follow by grubbing. The goat peels off the bark so completely as to kill the bush, root and branch, and in consequence grubbing is thus eliminated. When "Billy" and his co-laborer, "Miss Nan," are through with their work, the plow can follow and do as good work as in an ordinary stubble field. Another point in their favor is they ward off disease from sheep and keep away the mongrel yellow cur, which has heretofore proved so detrimental to sheep industry in the mountains. As a product of table consumption the kid is as good as any mutton, and many epicures maintain that it is superior to lamb with peas as a side dish. Surely these are reasons why they might be raised with advantage and profit to our people. But now we come to the main point in their favor, and that is the fleece. The Elizabethtown News, speaking upon this subject only a few weeks since, says:

"Dr. S. N. Willis, of Vine Grove, who is one of the leading Angora goat raisers of Hardin county, has recently shipped his mohair clip for this season to New York. On the best of it he received net, after paying express charges, $4 per pound. On a number of his goats he got as high as eleven pounds. From the doctor's returns it seems that nothing is more profitable than raising Angora goats."

While some "doubting Thomases" may question the veracity of the above we are confident that every word is truth. Indeed, government statistics point out many instances far more remarkable than the one here cited.

Langley Nominated.

The following dispatch is taken from the Lexington Herald of the 4th inst., and explains itself. Mr. Langley was proffered by President Taft the District Attorneyship for Eastern Kentucky and many believed he would accept. If he wins the coming race he will have the fight of his life, as the Democrats are sure to redeem the district.

Mt. Sterling, June 3.—The Republicans of the Tenth Congressional District met here today in convention and renominated Congressman John W. Langley, of Floyd county, for another term at Washington. Chairman Winn called the meeting to order. There were no contests and the convention was harmonious and unanimous.

While waiting for the committee to report stirring speeches were made by Senator W. O. Bradley and Congressman McKinley, of California. The nominating speech was made by Hon. W. J. Seitz, of Morgan county, and Mr. Langley was nominated by acclamation and accepted in a brief speech. Allen Cisco, of Morgan, was temporary chairman and Judge James P. Adams, of Breathitt, was permanent chairman. The secretaries were Theodore Blakely, of Lee county, and Robert Blackburn, of Powell. The platform adopted endorsed the national and state administration and the course of Senator Bradley and the Republican Congressman.

CONGRESSIONAL TICKETS.

State Chairman Prewitt Gives Advice to Party Leaders.

Chairmrn Henry R. Prewitt, of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee, in the course of an interview at Lexington recently, said:

"The outlook for Democratic success in the Congressional elections next fall and in the election for state officers a year later is very encouraging. There is, however, one thing that I would like to say to the Democrats of Kentucky at this time, and that is let us get successfully through these congressional races before we begin to talk about state offices. There will be ample time for announcements for state offices when we are through with the election next November.

"The election of Congressmen this fall is very important, and I think it would be good policy for the Democrats of the state to bend all their energies this year to these elections. We will have a whole year to nominate candidates for State offices and make the campaign for their election. Surely this is plenty of time and I think the Democrats had better let the state offices alone now and bend all their energies to electing Congressmen."

Bids For Text Books.

Frankfort, Ky., June 6.—In a letter to members of County Boards of Education Superintendent of Public Instruction Regenstein suggests that the boards meet June 18 and elect a member to serve on the County Text Book Commission, that body to meet June 14 and ask for bids to supply text books to all high schools in the county, and that the commission meet June 29 to open bids and make the adoption.

Something Worth Remembering.

The following, taken from the address delivered by Henry Clews before the graduating class of the State University at Lexington, is certainly worth remembering:

"Next to the unwisdom of selecting and following bad or incompetent advisers in matters of business, there are also certain persons whom, if you wish to do well and make a fortune honestly, you should be careful to avoid. You will not always know them by their appearance; in fact, that is often the worst rule to go by, for they are generally well disguised. It is in their manner and conversation that you will find them out, and, that this be the easiest, I have made a collection of their characteristics as follows:

Avoid a man who villifies his benefactor.

Who unjustly accuses others of bad deeds.

Who never has a good word for anybody.

Who, when he drinks, habitually drinks alone.

Who boasts of the superiority of his family.

Who talks religion down town in connection with his daily business affairs.

Who talks recklessly against the virtue of respectable women.

Who runs in debt with no apparent intention of paying.

Who borrows small sums on his note or check dated ahead.

Who will not work for an honest living.

Who looks down upon those who do.

Who is always prating about his own virtues.

Who imputes bad motives to those trying to do good.

Who betrays confidence.

Who lies.

Who is honest only for policy's sake.

Who deceives his wife and boasts of it to others.

Who chews tobacco in a public conveyance.

Who gets intoxicated in public places.

Who partakes of hospitality and talks behind his entertainer's back.

Who borrows money from a friend and blackguards the lender.

With a population of 91 millions, which this country now has, it is easy to find associates in life without selecting men possessed of any of these characteristics and life is the better worth living without them."

"For God's Sake Do Something."

We have answered this cry in our new book, "Fighting the Traffic in Young Girls," by Earnest A. Bell, U. S. District Attorney Sims and others. The most sensational indictment of the White Slave Trade ever published. It tells how thousands of young girls are lured from their homes annually and sold into a life of shame. The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "Of all the books of the season the War on the White Slave Trade is the most helpful; it should be read by every man, woman and child." Agents are making from $8 to $17 a day selling this book. Over 500 pages. Many pictures. Price $1.50. Best terms to agents. Outfit free. Send 15¢ for forwarding charges. Book sent to any address post paid upon receipt of price. Address James E. Sharkey, Secretary., 228 Plymouth Court, Chicago.

School Contracts.

The school year does not begin until July 1st, and consequently former contracts with teachers can not be made until that time. Formerly the trustee or trustees of each district employed the teacher for the district, but now the contracts are made by the full board. The teacher must make application in writing to the secretary of the Educational Division in which the school is located. It is very important to have the recommendation of the trustee of the subdistrict, as he is considered by the board as the immediate representative of the district, and his recommendation as expressing the wish of the people of the district.

A BARGAIN IN BUSINESS.

DESIRING to change location two of the firm of Kash, Johnson & Kash are determined to withdraw, even though they sacrifice the stock. It is the opportunity for people who need goods, as everything will be sold at less profit than any other merchant in Eastern Kentucky can afford. HIT NOW, WHILE THE IRON IS HOT!

Preferably, however, we will sell the entire stock, invoiced, house and fixtures at a great sacrifice.

This is the opportunity of a lifetime for any one who wishes to engage in the mercantile trade, as our health will not permit us to continue. Being on the corner of Main and Broadway it is the most desirable location in Hazel Green, for YOU CATCH TRADE "GWINE AN' ACOMIN'." It is on the spot where once stood the old Pieratt Hotel, a celebrated hostelry in its day, famous all over Eastern Kentucky.

We want to sell in bulk, and if you'll meet us half way we can make a dicker.

Respectfully yours,

THE HERALD.

Sebron Trimble was appointed administrator of the Trimble estate at the June term of the county court.

Curt Rose and Leon McIntyre, of Lexie, were in town Monday doing some shopping and attending to other business.

Miss Sadie Cartmel, of West Liberty, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Foreman, whose guest she will be for a pair of weeks.

Joe Henry Gevedon, who was clerking for J. T. Day during commencement week, has resigned his position and is now at home sick.

Boone Center, of West Hazel Green, was kicked on the right arm yesterday by his mare and painfully injured, though Dr. Williams says no bones were broken.

Miss Mae Williams has the thanks of the editor and his better seven-eighths for a plate of white and assorted cake, which was much enjoyed for its delightful flavor.

Miss Wilkie Stockdale, of Mt. Sterling, who visited Miss Bettie Cecil during commencement week, left for home Sunday, stopping at Maytown en route to visit other friends.

Dr. G. M. Center was in town Tuesday and told "Our Man About Town" that Wm. Clark, the venerable father of F. P. Clark, had had a bad spell of flux, but was now about convalescent.

Sam Kash, Ellis Johnson, Doc Kash, Fred Day, W. O. Mize, John M. Pieratt, Roe Nickell, W. T. Whaley, John M. Rose and J. T. Day were among the visitors to Compton from our place Monday.

Mrs. Nannie Kash, of Mt. Sterling, has been in our town several days visiting relatives and friends. She is trying to rent her cottage, located near the campus, to some good tenant on very reasonable terms.

The oil drillers pulled up stakes on the Loge Little farm Monday and moved to the Frank Johnson farm on Lacy creek, where they are now putting down a test well for oil. The Gillmore well proved a dry hole.

Miss Meade, one of the faculty of H. G. A., during the term recently closed, resigned her position at the end of the term, on Tuesday left for some point in Illinois, where she has accepted a position in some school.

Henry Stamper, who lives this side Maytown, yesterday sold to Frank Clark, of Borders, 80 head of hogs, for which he got $450.38. Of the 80 about 25 were heavy hogs and the others gilts in only medium condition. The price per hundred was $8.60.

The people of this town were surprised Friday morning last when Miss Jennie Pieratt, of Mt. Sterling, and Bob Childers, of Maytown, were married at Maytown. Miss Pieratt was visiting Miss Bettie Cecil during commencement, and Mr. Childers took advantage of circumstances, called for a hack and ran off to Maytown where they were married.

Serious Cutting Affray.

Parties from Campton Tuesday evening told "Our Man About Town" that George Hollon, a son of Jack Hollon, had cut Sam Elkins, a son of Gale Elkins, very seriously, if not fatally. The difficulty occurred just outside Campton and that Hollon cut Elkins across the throat, inflicting a wound six inches in length and gapped open two inches wide. He also cut him on the muscle of the arm and drove his knife blade into his victim's back to the depth of two inches or more. Indeed, Dr. Carroll, who dressed the cuts on the wounded man, said the knife thrust in the back penetrated to the hollow. Both men were arrested, but Hollon subsequently gave bond, while Elkins still languishes in jail. Catron Hollon, a relative of the embryo butcher, and Elkins started the melee about a woman, whose name we failed to learn.

Artistic Workmanship.

People passing THE HERALD office have probably noticed that we have a new sign in front of the building, and we are proud to state that it is the artistic work of our friend, A. Lynn Perry, of Winchester, who is the son of our old friend and comrade in the army, R. R. Perry, editor and owner of the Sun-Sentinel of Winchester. Mr. Perry, Jr., is a natural born sign painter, and while we know his family on both sides from away back we can't conceive whence he inherited the talent. Probably it is not an inheritance from parentage, but a direct gift of God, and therein lies the perfection which comes from providence. Anyone who has seen his signs, and especially those who have witnessed his proficiency in the use of the brush, will readily recognize the fact that in sign painting he is the personification of perfection. When you want anything in his line write him at Winchester,

Come In and Settle Up.

As Mr. C. F. Kash, of the firm of Kash, Johnson & Kash, will withdraw from the firm at an early date, it is absolutely imperative that all accounts must be settled up at once. This is to notify all who are indebted to said firm to come in and settle by note or account as they must be settled within the next 30 days. Meantime goods will be sold cheaper than ever to let Mr. Kash out and if you want bargains NOW IS YOUR CHANCE. Respectfully,

KASH, JOHNSON & KASH.

Oranges and Bananas.

The friends of Bob Cecil and Doc Kash are telling that they learned Florida orange and banana growers a new trick. Within two weeks after they bought lots at Keystone Park in Florida they received the finest lot of oranges and lady-finger bananas ever seen in our town. Doc Kash explains that he took advantage of the young pine on his place by grafting in orange buds, thus saving three years time and lots of labor. Bob has not explained the quick growth of the bananas, but will be heard from.

The Uncle Pres Trimble estate was sold Monday at commissioner's sale. There is about 50 acres in the boundary, including an old dwelling, and was bid in by Roscoe Shackelford for a syndicate, embracing himself, Judge Wheeler, John Fetterly and J. M. Nickell, for $1,600. While this is apparently a low price, the land is largely hillside, much worn and the dwelling quite ancient.

Oh, Poet of the pen and brush
Who goes to Murphy's Fork
To let your gentle soul gush forth
And also do some work,
I hear you sing in differing keys,
As poets sometimes will,
About that famous little cot,
The cabin on the hill.

Sometimes you see it glow with life,
And then your song is glad;
Sometimes you see it empty, quite,
And then your song is sad.
But, Poet, why sing sadly when
You sure can, if you will,
Get some one who will take, with you,
That cabin on the hill?

W. J. LAMPTON.

P. S. Possibly, Mr. Editor, if the Poet is too bashful to answer this very easy question, you may be able to answer it for him. However, if you think it will scare him away from any project he may have in mind of becoming a permanent tenant of the cabin with the proper equipment for housekeeping, don't say a word.

A Young Republican.

Our friend, Bill Foreman, sends us word from Gillmore that on Saturday there was born to the wife of Charley Lefevre, a bouncing baby boy, whom they named John William Lefevre, and Bill adds that the first thing the new arrival called for was the "Yellow Jacket," that crazy Republican newspaper published at Moravian Falls, N. C., which indicates that papa Lefevre is himself an adherent of Republican principles, or prejudice, as you may see it. But the kid must be a precocious and precious one to so soon enter into politics.

A Wandering Typo.

Col. Joe Dotes, alias G. S. McAfee, ye old-time printer, who hails from the Blue Grass (Nicholasville), is one of the Sun force this week. He has an eye for the beautiful, which is characteristic of all Kentuckians—he is a good judge of pretty women and horses, and also a good judge of mean liquor.—Pineville Sun.

A few of our citizens will remember the gentleman above named as an attache of THE HERALD office a few years since. Spence McAfee is a globe trotter, generally speaking, but he goes all the gaits, and in fact rates, of speed.

Ike Adams, a tenant on the farm of Charley McGuire, near Maytown, while hauling rail timber had his leg broken below the knee. One rail cut hit a pole, knocking him down and pinning his leg underneath. He hallooed for help, but no one being near, he managed to turn until he could get the end of the pole and lift it from his shin bone, the broken part of which had cut thru the flesh. Dr. G. M. Center, who waited upon him, says under all circumstances it was a wonderful exhibition of nerve.

Prof. Carter and wife left Tuesday for Indianapolis, where they will visit headquarters of the C. W. B. M., visit among other acquaintances and then go to Ohio, where they have a large acquaintance. They will consult a specialist on the eye at Cleveland, and then go to Wisconsin, where his people live, to spend his vacation.

Our old friend and comrade in arms, Elsberry Little, of Gillmore creek, has recently suffered from prostrate trouble, combined with rheumatism, and on Monday was in an almost comatose condition. Tuesday morning he was somewhat better as reported by Dr. G. M. Center, of Toliver, who is attending him.

Are you interested in our suggestion to destroy all nests of the English sparrow? If not, get to work and you will be benefiting your neighbors as well as yourself. Kill all the little pests you possibly can.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collated and Concisely Chronicled.

Kentucky's magnificent new capitol at Frankfort was dedicated last Thursday with appropriate ceremonies.

Talmage, the 14-year-old son of Jonas Reynolds, a Bath county farmer, had his hand cut off by being caught between two disks of a corn drill he was putting together.

J. B. Haggin, proprietor of Elmendorf farm near Lexington, is making arrangements to build fifty tenement houses on the place to be used by employes and their families.

Dashing into her burning house to save the life of her daughter's baby, Mrs. Dora Rudd, who resides in McCracken county, was fatally burned, but the baby was uninjured.

A severe wind and hail storm recently passed over the southeastern part of Barren county, upturning trees, razing fences and laying waste tobacco fields and gardens. The damage is said to be great.

Three men, who gave their names as Frank Burns, George Preston and Harry Barren, all of Cincinnati, were given 10 minutes to leave Frankfort, Saturday, where they had been arrested, alleged to be trying to rob a farmer.

The record for a girl baby was broken by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Condor, near Holly, in Grayson county. The child was born May 18, and weighed 1 1-2 pounds when three days old. It is said to be well developed and doing well.

While in a fit of despondency Laura Hayes, aged about 27 years, committed suicide in Maysville by shooting herself in the heart with a 32-calibre single shot derringer. She left a note saying she was tired of living and wanted to die.

While at work on the farm of Baxter brothers, in Monroe county, workmen unearthed $3,000 in silver. The money is of Mexican stamp and shows signs of having been buried many years. It is believed to have been placed there during the war.

Hargis King, of Carlisle, was found dead in his buggy near Headquarters, in Nicholas county, with two bullet holes in his head. Luther Ham, who was the last person seen with King, was arrested and there is much circumstantial evidence against him.

The Pendletonian, published at Falmouth, says: "Locusts have made their appearance in different parts of Pendleton county in immense swarms. They are said to have marked plainly upon their wing the letter 'W,' which the old legend says clearly indicates war."

Declaring that Margaretta Bush, of Perry county, a young white girl, had been a victim rather than a sinner, and for the sake of her baby born in the pen, Governor Willson granted her a pardon from the penitentiary, where she had been sent on a charge of housebreaking.

Mrs. Lula Kash set a dinner Friday for some twelve or fifteen of her special friends, but did not forget some absent ones, including the editor and his better seven-eighths, to whom she sent a dish of pure ice cream and a plate of delicious cake of several varieties. She also sent a select lot of flowers.

The seventy-fourth year of its existence finds the Toledo Blade more popular than at any period of its remarkable career. It is now read each week by more than a million people. Its field is not circumscribed by State boundaries, but involves the length and breadth of the United States, giving it an unquestionable right of claiming to be the greatest national weekly newspaper in the country.

The Weekly Blade is distinctly a family newspaper. To fulfill this purpose it is kept clean and wholesome. The news of the world is handled in a comprehensive manner, and the various departments of The Blade are edited with painstaking care. The Household page is a delight to the women and children; current affairs are treated editorially without prejudice; the serial stories are selected with the idea of pleasing the greating number of fiction lovers; the Question Bureau is a scrapbook of information; the Farmstead columns are conducted with the purpose of giving the patrons a medium for the exchange of ideas and information on farm topics. ANOTHER REASON

For Granting School Suffrage to Kentucky Women.

Children are not the exclusive creatures or possessions of men. Even in Kentucky they are not, since the action of the last legislature in passing the co-guardianship bill.

Of all the ridiculous political disabilities yet put upon women by men the most ridiculous is to say to them on the one hand, "Woman, it is your glorious privilege to bear and to rear children," and on the other, "But at the age of six years these children must be taken from you and put into the public schools of the state. There you may not follow them. It is no business of yours how these schools are managed, or what conditions likely to affect the health or the morals as well as the education of the children are there existent. This is a matter for fathers, not mothers."

As a matter of fact, it is particularly the prerogative and the duty of mothers to follow and watch closely the education of their children. In many families it is a necessity that this function be left to the mother while the father earns the bread. The laws which deny women a share in the management of the public schools were made at a time when conditions were very different from the present. In those days most children were taught at their mother's knee. Those mothers who could afford it supplied private governesses for their children; the others gave their children such education as they themselves had.

This condition no longer exists. Children are now being educated, not at home by their mothers, but in public schools, and it is as much the privilege and the duty of the mother to carefully watch and oversee that education in the public school as ever it was to guide it in the pioneer homes.

A Sex Duty.

Nor is it alone the duty of the woman who has children in the public schools to interest themselves in the conduct of these schools. There is a sex duty upon all women; the education of children is peculiarly a part of woman's work. There is upon all women a sort of race responsibility to see that the next generation is set a step forward in the slow struggle toward civilization. The mother who can afford to keep her own children in a private school should be willing to give at least a portion of her time to insure the fact that the school to which the working woman, the woman without leisure for public service, must send her children is in essential points at least comparable to that to which her own children go. Even more is it the duty of the unmarried woman, or the childless married woman, to discharge, by service rendered the public schools of her community, a part of the race obligation which other women are discharging to a large extent by the nurture and rearing of their own children.

In or Out of Politics, Which?

It has been said that the effort to obtain school suffrage for Kentucky women was an effort to put women into politics. On the contrary it was an effort to take the schools out of politics. It was opposed by representatives of the cities who desired to leave the schools a political asset. It is unfortunate that "politics" should have come to have the meaning it has. The word is now associated with corrupt elections, violence, graft, ward politics, dirty politics—something that would be contaminating to women. It is high time that school elections at least should be rescued from such association; and there is no better way to do it than by an infusion of women voters.

We must come to a higher conception of politics. The word means really the carrying on of that public business on which private life depends in civilized society. "Politics," says Bernard Shaw, "is not something apart from home and the babies. It is home and the babies." Women have long since gotten into politics in Kentucky in the sense that they have labored for the passage and enforcement of legislation in the interest of the public health, for the protection of childhood, for the betterment of schools—for the preservation, in short, of home and the babies.

If Kentucky men want the children of Kentucky educated instead of illiterate it behooves them not to oppose the entrance of mothers into school affairs, not to oppose the working of a natural law that binds fathers and mothers to a joint duty toward their children. The violation of the motto of Kentucky—United We Stand: Divided We Fall—will explain the low place to which Kentucky has dropped in the educational column.

Why Towns Get Sick and Die.

Here is an editorial that has been published in many of our exchanges and is worthy of reproduction. We do not know where it originated. It says:

"More towns die of want of confidence on the part of business men and lack of public spirit than any other cause. When a man in search of a home or a business location goes into a town and finds everything brimful of hope and enthusiasm of the prospects of the place and all earnestly at work to build it up, he soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, and as a result he drives down stakes and goes to work with the same interest. When, however, he goes to a town where every one expresses doubt and apprehension for the future prosperity of the place, moping about, indulging in mournful complaints, he naturally feels that it is no place for him, and he at once shakes the dust from his feet while he pulls out with all possible speed for some other place. Consequently try to make a live, enterprising town in which you live. When you are working for your town you are accomplishing all the more for yourself."

If you are not satisfied after using according to directions two-thirds of a bottle of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, you can have your money back. The tablets cleanse and invigorate the stomach, improve the digestion, regulate the bowels. Give them a trial and get well. Sold by all dealers.

Be Honest and Save Money.

When I was a boy my mother taught me to be honest and save money. She made me work, which was another good thing. When I was earning 50 cents a day I saved half of it. No man can succeed in life if he spends all he makes. Frugality is a necessity in every man's life. Then I prepared myself for my work. Prepare is a word I like. Mr. Carnegie when he was a common blacksmith prepared himself; he worked hard; he did his best. I have no friends that I think more of than Mr. Carnegie. So it was with Mr. Hill. When he was a mud clerk on the levee in St. Paul, working for 50 cents a day, he prepared himself for his work. Then, too, he saved his money. His old clothes didn't make him any less a gentleman. Mr. Hill has told me that his only luxury in those day was books. I never met a man who possessed a greater fund of knowledge than Mr. Hill. He is a power in the financial world today. I should like to tell every young man starting out in life the necessity of preparing himself for his work. Then he must be honest and save his money.—Lord Strathcona.

much needless pain when they delay using Cardui for their female troubles. Cardui has been found to relieve headache, backache, pain in the side and dizziness, arising from deranged organs. It does more than relieve,—if used persistently,—many have written to say that it cured them.

TAKE CARDUI

J 37

It Will Help You

Mrs. Maxwell Johnson, Tampa, Fla., writes: "Cardui cured me after doctors and everything else had failed. I had been suffering with numb spells ever since I was 16 years old. One day I decided to take Cardui. I have now taken 5 bottles and I can say that it has cured me. I advise all suffering women to give Cardui a long and fair trial."

Mrs. Johnson suffered years. Have you? Do you wish to? But why suffer at all? Take Cardui. Give it a fair trial.

Our treatment is painless and harmless. We do not care how much you use, or how long, or from what cause, we can cure you to stay cured.

HERE IS OUR UNPARALLELED PROPOSITION: We will take any case of Drug or Liquor addiction, cure them, bear all expenses while the patient is here, such as treatment, board, room and attendant, and not exact one cent compensation until the patient is cured and ready to return home.

We do not send our patients home a physical wreck, with a so-called tonic to build them up. When you leave our Sanitarium you know you are cured, for you are perfectly free from all craving or desire for either drug or liquor. You are eating and sleeping well and taking no medicine home whatever. Our patients gain flesh and strength from the very beginning. Our Sanitarium is the finest in the State and ladies need not hesitate about coming to us, as they are attended by a lady nurse, and they will be shown nothing but the most constant and courteous attention.

We refer you to the Farmers National Bank and any business or professional man in our city. Upon application we can place you in correspondence with persons we have cured who will gladly answer any questions.

If you are seeking a cure without suffering, and one that is guaranteed to your entire satisfaction before paying one cent, we will appreciate a letter from you, and we will cheerfully give you any information.
